

Ebook Leader Uniquebook.com Launches Ghostwriting, Editing, Screenplay and Web designing

17th May, 2008. Uniquebook.com, one of the foremost e-book stores has recently opened up new services in areas like ghostwriting/ copywriting, web designing and screenplay writing.

According to Anindyasundar, the founder and CEO of the organization, "Launched about a year ago, we have already made our presence felt in the world of e-books...so with our team of highly acclaimed writers, we have decided to diversify in ghostwriting, copywriting, web designing and screenplay services as well..."

The ghostwriting services of the organization covers quite a wide area...from books, e-books, biographies, blogs, resumes to even sales letters. Apart from this, the company also provides the services of top-graded editors who provide editing and proofreading services thereby adding more quality to any book, biography or article. Also, the company has begun its screenplay division having expert scriptwriters to serve any ambitious movie-production group.

"Commitment, aptitude and quality...these are what we assure to our valued clients"...says Anindyasundar.

Uniquebook.com is well known for its collection of books by distinguished authors having worldwide fame. Their collection includes rationalist and socio-political literatures that provide a new dimension and opens up new frontiers in sociology, science and literature.

Their books also catch up with other contemporary issues like cyber crime, self-development and internet business.

According to the company sources, rigorous research, study and analysis had transformed the organization into an archetype of excellence and authenticity within a short span of time.
